

ELECTRONIC COMPONENT AND METHOD FOR ITS PRODUCTION

Abstract

An electronic component includes a semiconductor die which exhibits on 10 its active top side above an active surface area a self-supporting electrically conductive cover layer which is supported by through lines and forms a hollow space to the active surface area. A method for producing the electronic component includes additional features.